Beck introduced a bill for the repeal of that section of the Revised Statutes which prohibits the appointment to the army of any person who has served under the Confederate government Laid on the table for the present

Berry introduced a bill to fix the salary of persons in the railway mail service referred

Merrimon submitted a resolution calling upon the secretary of war for a statement as to the arms and equipments issued for use by officers of the treasury and internal departments and department of justice, where such arms are now and whether any of them have been sold agreed to

On motion of Hamlin the senate proceeded to the consideration of the resolution submitted by Blaine in regard to inquiry as to whether at the recent elections the constitutional rights of American citizens were violated

Blair said he desired pending the resolution First—To place on record in definite and authentic form the frauds and outrages by which some recent elections were carried by the Democratic party in the southern states

Second—To find if there be any method by which a repetition of these crimes against free ballot may be prevented

Debate followed and was participated in by Thurman Lamar Edmunds and Blaine The debate between Lamar Blaine and Edmunds was characterized by a good many personal allusions

The resolution was finally laid aside and consideration resumed of a bill to amend the patent laws

Thurman submitted an amendment to Blaine's resolution instructing the committee to inquire if any citizen of any state had been dismissed or threatened with dismissal from employment by reason of his vote or intimation to vote at the late election or been otherwise interfered with and whether in 1878 federal employes had been assessed for election purposes and circumstances attending such assessment its rate and whether the law was violated Also to inquire into the conduct of U S election supervisors, the number of marshals and others employed to conduct the election with the salary paid them proposed and under what law Thurman said his side would have waived all argument had this amendment been incorporated in the original resolution but Blaine had refused to give way for it. He wished to day to make only a few general observations The senator from Maine had frankly admitted that his purpose was to assail the Democracy of the south There were some jobs as to the propriety of this investigation The session is short and important legislation presses

Windom from the appropriation committee reported with amendments the military academy bill placed on the calendar

House

The pension appropriation bill was reported referred and made special order for to morrow

A bill reported last year from committee on commerce to regulate inter state commerce and prevent discrimination by common carriers was taken up and discussed

The bill makes it unlawful for persons engaged in transporting property by railroad from one state to another or to or from any foreign country to discriminate against any person in the price charged It prohibits pooling of freight combinations and drawbacks

Reagan explained and advocated the bill

Potter opposed it as being superfluous and useless

Townshend of Illinois advocated the bill The combination of trunk lines had recently increased the cost of transportation on wheat from St Louis to New York 8 or 9 cents per bushel Farmers of the west who anticipated higher prices for their wheat have been injured hereby The bill was as much in the interest of those living in terminal points as at intermediate points Every western producer was interested in having the strong hand of government to prevent monopolies levying taxes on producers

Phillips of Kansas favored some parts of the bill and opposed others Railroads should be permitted to carry great quantities of freight cheaper than small

Cannon said he favored the provision against pooling but not for the section prohibiting a reduction in the rate for long distances

Hewitt said it was an unwise measure An inter state commission of experts was a proper remedy for grievous existing abuses, which demanded careful attention from all who wished to develop a great foreign trade that by pulling the country out of the quagmire into which bad financial legislation has pushed it. The bill then passed 139 to 110

The house took up the Geneva award bill and soon adjourned

FRIDAY MORNING DE 1

THE PACIFIC RAILROAD QUESTION

Among the first of the measures brought before congress at the beginning of the session is the bill for the Texas and Pacific railway It obtains a hearing in the senate in advance of all other schemes of the session a circumstance which indicates the earnestness and courage of its backers and is significant of their purpose to push it as well as of their hopes of success Its main strength is in its antagonism to the existing Pacific railway monopoly The necessity of a competing railway to check the arrogance and oppressions of the Union and Central Pacific is urged upon congress and the country with great adroitness and much force This plea on which the Texas and Pacific managers largely base their claims for national aid is set forth at length in a communication from ex Gov Brown of Tennessee, vice president of the company who dexterously invites attention to the fact that the most active and organized opposition at Washington comes from the lobby of the California monopoly The objections raised by this lobby, briefly stated are these

1 That the Southern Pacific Co of California, are willing to build—indeed are building—such connections as will secure a truly Southern Pacific railroad without further assistance from the government

2 That the bill in aid of the Texas and Pacific road now before congress does not secure such certain advantages to the south as it needs or claims but places the control of its traffic in the hands of Col Scott who represents what is charged to be a rival interest

3 That the aid asked from the government cannot be constitutionally given, and that the security offered the government is insufficient.

These objections Gov. Brown discusses and attempts to refute. To the first he answers that the Southern Pacific and Central Pacific are identical, and that government aid having been already given to the one to an immense amount, it means simply that the other is sharing the proceeds of this subsidy in fact that all the money expended in building the Southern Pacific is money which has been made by this enormous subsidy to the Central Pacific, which company instead of meeting its own just obligations to the government, uses the immense revenue which its subsidy gives it to prevent the construction of any competing line This argument applies as well to the north as to the south since it is notorious that the existing monopoly has manifested as much hostility to a northern as to a southern competing road If it has expended less money so far to defeat the northern than the southern railway it is because the latter has seemed to threaten its supremacy most just now but it has had its agents in Washington, and even upon the floor of the senate and house, to throw every possible obstacle in the way of all measures to aid the northern line It is urged that maintenance of this monopoly would be the entire exclusion of fair competition and that the completion of the Southern Pacific would only be a doubling of the monopoly If any argument can carry the Texas and Pacific it is this, but the argument is just as good and valid in behalf of aid for the Northern road. To the second objection it is answered that the people of the south cannot be isolated, and that general improvement and development will assist all As to the third objection, it is only necessary to say that it does not come with much grace or force from those who are themselves enjoying the bounty of the government as no other persons ever did, and who find it in their own case unquestionably constitutional

While it cannot be denied that there is great force in the argument in behalf of the Texas and Pacific as against the existing monopoly, yet it is extremely doubtful whether their undertaking will receive the support aside of the national government Two powerful influences, wide apart as the poles in respect of their views and purposes will make opposition to further aid for any Pacific railway a common cause The selfish monopolists who control the Union and Central Pacific, and who are working for their greed, will be joined by honest anti subsidy men who are working from precisely opposite motives. Thus selfishness is lucky enough to find itself powerfully supported by disinterested purposes It is another case in which extremes meet Such a subsidy as is asked for this southern road we should be extremely glad to have for a northern one But it cannot be had and no doubt it is from their knowledge of this fact and of the general situation that the Northern Pacific company have taken their resolution to ask for nothing more. But, fortunately, it is probable that the northern road can be built out of the land grant and other existing resources of the company, though we expect a movement to be made soon at the instigation of the monopoly to take the land grant away

HARD TIMES IN ENGLAND

We have had numerous dispatches of late bringing most unfavorable accounts of the condition of British industry and trade. New York papers have mail advices which furnish a larger amount of evidence in the same direction, and indicate a depression which is attended with really deplorable results It is asserted that the cotton, iron and coal industries are in a worse state than ever before since the Crimean war We are told that the newspapers suppress the details as far as possible, and the mercantile and financial failures noted give only a suggestion of the widespread distress There are no cheap lands, as in America, to which people who are thrown out of work in the factories and mines can resort for relief and starvation or charity appear to be the only alternatives Wages in the cotton mills have been reduced 20 per cent within the past few months, and a further reduction is threatened under pressure of American competition Mills are running an average of two thirds time only, and many have entirely stopped Among the details are this In Blackburn out of 80 000 inhabitants 8 000 to 10 000 are cotton operatives and on short employment In Oldham there is half to almost nominal wages In the eighteen months company one of the largest companies which used to give dividends of 25 per cent lost $10,000 last quarter In Preston 100 spindles are idle In Dundee one of the largest coal and iron trade have been working but to 50 per cent during the year At Wolverhampton and other coal and iron centers hundreds are actually starving families are said to be often without food for days in succession Sheffield is also feeling the severity of American and German competition and similar stories of distress come from East quarter A correspondent there says he never witnessed anything like the present scarcity and poverty. The tin mining trade of Cornwall same is true of the pottories of Staffordshire No industry is doing well The best that can be said of any is that they are working full time and just managing to live Even the farmers complain of hard times, and of the foreign supplies of grain meat and other staple foods which compete with English products. Unless these accounts are greatly exaggerated the depression of the present time in England greatly exceeds what we have known in America during our period of bad times

On the subject of Bondholders and Banking the New York World, Democratic organ says "We believe that the national banks of the country have held about one sixth of our national debt and have received about one sixth of the fifteen hundred and eighty eight millions paid out as interest on the whole debt since 863 Now if it was useful to make such a market and find such purchasers for the bonds then the banks to that extent have been serviceable And if it is useful to prevent such a quantity of bonds as the banks hold from being suddenly thrown on the market the banks are still useful That these banks have supplied a safe and flexible currency is, we think conceded That the large state and national taxation on these associations keeps their present dividends from being excessive and fixes them at a figure say of about six or seven per centum annually is likewise generally believed There is no immediate prospect of extinguishing our whole national debt and we do not see how the banks can be fairly said to keep it in existence by making bonds their basis of business

Dispatches are loaded with accounts of the Anglo Afghan war The thin disguises under which the affair has been undertaken by Great Britain do not conceal the fact that the czar of Russia not the ameer of Afghanistan is the person against whom the war is really waged The purpose of the British is not really to punish the ameer for rejecting their embassy They care little for that But they intend to occupy permanently the mountain passes and the territory of the Afghans on the Indian border so as to hold the position against anticipated Russian movements This is what the Afghan expedition means

There are statements from Washington to the effect that careful inquiry shows no probability of any silver legislation what ever this session, not even regarding the trade dollar The obstinate behavior of silver, which has fallen still further in price during the past year in spite of the efforts of congress to sustain it, gives members a needed hint that among the things which legislation can not do is to uphold values against the tendency of the natural laws by which they are regulated

Among the documents recently secured for the confederate archives at Washington is a note book or blotter kept by Jefferson Davis of all the acts of the confederate executive during the war Col Wright, a confederate officer, who is assisting the war department in collecting these materials has written to Judah P Benjamin, in London, for the records of the confederate state department, which are there He expects to receive copies of them

The Absurdity of the Grant Programme.

[Washington Cor Springfield Republican ]

It is astonishing how the Grant admirers keep harping on their hero for 1880 What do they mink That Gen Grant is the only statesman in the Republican party That the country wants soldiers sent down into the south to undo all that has been accomplished by withdrawing them And how is the thing to be done Do they suppose the men whom he ostracised or coming back to his support? That after seeing he refusing what they sought to have effected with Grant as president and after witnessing the purnicious and increased prosperity of the party under the administration of his successor—a man of their own selection they are going back to Grant Are going to say We were wrong and Grant and his advisers were right There is a coolness in the suggestion that is refreshing in this mild weather If General Grant had turned his army over to Lee at Appomattox it would have been about as novel a spectacle as it would be in 1880 to see the liberal Republicans and Independents supporting Grant for president And yet there are hundreds here who profess to believe that such a night is certain to be witnessed There are others who even certain the still more absurd not only that Gen Grant could be elected without the support of the Independents

Faithful are the Wounds of a Friend

From the Phil Evening Chronicle Dem

We wish to speak plainly The Democracy of the north must demand a better state of affairs from their brethren of the south The southern Democracy to use a slang phrase are becoming entirely too fresh It is perfect folly to say the reports of election frauds in the south are Republican campaign lies for it will do more harm than good it will be construed as a defense of such outrages against free government as the southern Democrats had been committing extensively No doubt there are some exaggerations as there always are, and it is natural but the great Democratic party of the United States cannot afford to condone such monstrous frauds as have been recently committed in its name

The principal topics of conversation in London are war and bail trade

DR. BRENAN,

His Wonderful Success

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

Chronic and Difficult Diseases.

He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skillful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS

public and private lectures the true principles of health and life to both male and female He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease in plain and comprehensive language. But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease, mentally and physically he has restored them to health and happiness for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness.

has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases. Catarrh, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat and chest by an entirely new system only known to himself, Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs, including Spermator rhea. Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world wide reputation by his astonishing success not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States. Diseases of the Stomach, bowels liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of and never fails to give relief at once and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints, and understands their delicate and refined organization, as well as the proper remedies which should be used to allay their suffering and restore them to perfect health over most physicians—he can tell the patient's disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual This account in part for his great professional success.

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES

THE DOCTOR HAS THIS ADVANTAGE

All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand, and the patient need not fear the result.

will send to those living at a distance and who can not well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally and will for ward the proper medicines or instruments, to any part of the country with full instructions and advice Each letter requiring advice or list of questions must contain two postage stamps

Everything strictly confidential and honorable.

THE DOCTOR

has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and three years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia, as more than one of the Medical men of the Medical Faculty in this State can testify

CAUTION.

Persons coming to Portland requiring medical treatment of the proper kind who desire to consult with me will please beware of parties who may try to coax them away to other so-called Doctors, through pretended friendship for the patients Look out for them they are knaves prompted by selfish motives and what they can make. Be sure and ask for DR PAUL M. BRENAN, the Medical Lecturer and read his sign on his door
